Council Approves Application By S.D. For $166,000 Improvement To School

LAC LA BICHE—Town council met Nov. 12 to face a long and varied list of business requiring attention. A building permit was issued to the Lac la Biche school division for construction of five classrooms and a gymnasium at Lac la Biche, with the estimated cost set at $166,000.

A building permit was approved to Poole Construction Co. for two duplex dwellings, one single dwelling, and two double garages for the Department of Transport. The estimated cost has not yet been given. A private dwelling permit for $4,000 was apporved, as were two smaller buildings to cost $400.

Councillors McMillan and Maccagno were appointed to set a price on certain town lots.

The Court of Revision heard two complaints regarding business tax assessments. One was claimed to be too high while the other claimed to be wrongly classified. The first was thought by the court to be in order but the other was reclassified resulting in lowering of the final figure. Mr. Hanevich, of the Department of Municipal Affairs, Assessment Branch was present to give professional advice.

E. G. Dobson of Northland Utilities was present to interest the council in the installation of mercury vapor street lights such as are being used in many towns and cities in the past few years. Council voted to install six of the lights on a trial basis.

A grant of $50.00 was authorized to the W.I. Library. This is in line with an established policy over the past few years.

It was decided to offer for sale by tender, two electric motor and pump units.

The secretary informed the council that the water and sewer extension by-laws under consideration for the west section of town, had met with a set back, at least for the present. The board of Public Utility Commissioners were not able to pass the by-laws in their present form. Efforts to alter or modify the plans are to continue. Utilities are to be made available for the new building project of the Department of Transport, and the secretary was to order the necessary materials as soon as possible.

Steps are to be taken to secure a recreation lease on the lake front area adjoining the town.

Council approved an application for the right to operate a retail gas station. The secretary was instructed to take steps to collect outstanding business taxes.

Accounts totalling $4,956.34 were passed for payment.

Councillors McMillan, Vincent, J. Hamar, Tkachuk and Lobay were present, as were Mayor S. Hamar and secretary Creighton.

DOCTOR URGES IMMUNIZATION FOR DIPHTHERIA

LAC LA BICHE—Dr. Hugh Brown of the Athabasca Health Unit urges all parents to have their children immunized at once against the present threat of diphtheria.

A few weeks ago a 7 year old boy in school on Friday was taken to hospital on Saturday suffering with diphtheria. He died the following day. To date, one other case in another part of the district has been discovered but 15 positive throats, involving 10 families, have been found through the elementary school. These individuals are known as carriers and while not actually being ill themselves, can communicate the disease to someone else, creating a great hazard.

While the school children are fairly well immunized, by the clinics held at the schools by the Health Unit, there is no way of checking on the pre-school children. These are the ones who should be immunized without delay.

This can be done by visiting the public health nurse on Fridays from 1:30 to 5 p.m. or by your doctor. Dr. Brown stressed that "the only way to stamp out this dread disease which is now right at our door step, is for every child and older person too, to be immunized at once. Only then can we hope to be free from the threat of this plague."

RAFFLE WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED

LAC LA BICHE—The grade six class, with Mrs. Mastaler as teacher, held their raffle Nov. 14 after it had been postponed from an earlier date because of some being ill with the flu.

Winners were first prize, $10.00, Mr. M. Lett; second prize, $5.00 Doris Cadieux; third prize $3.00, Bonnie June Mastaler.

Proceeds from the raffle will be used to buy sports equipment and to furnish treats for school parties.

To Hold Plebiscite

LAC LA BICHE—With a vote on By-law 286 to be held Nov. 27, the town is beginning to show keen interest in the proposed plan to get the Memorial hall back in operation.

A hall promotion committee has been formed by the Lions club to work toward putting the hall in shape to use as soon as possible. In an interview, one of the committee members deplored the fact that the town now has no suitable place to hold club meetings, political meetings, dances, bingos, bazaars, etc. He said that if this condition is allowed to continue it is bound to have a damaging effect on the economy of the town in general and will certainly affect its future growth.

The committee, which has the support and approval of the Chamber of Commerce, argues that since a hall has been presented to the town at no cost, it is only good business to improve it and make full use of it. The committee plans to have circulars mailed to every elector, urging a vote in favor of By-law 286.

MY TRIP TO WISCONSIN

By the REV. R. S. H. GREENE

It was a nice crisp morning as the bus pulled out of Lac la Biche on a journey that was to take me over 4,000 miles. The Bishop was sending me as a delegate to the National Conference of the Church in Town and Country. I was chosen as one of 25 priest from The Anglican Church of Canada. The conference was being held at Green Lake, Wisconsin which is about 150 miles from Chicago.

As I had been up until 3 am. on the previous morning getting last minute things cleaned up, my sleep was limited to about 2½ hours—because of the 6:30 a.m. bus catch. This is perhaps a good thing, especially when you are not conditioned to bus travel—it sort of dulls the pain. We arrived in Edmonton safe and sound some five hours later. The Supercontinental does not leave until 2 p.m. so that there is ample time to catch it.

These trains are fast and comfortable but if you like to eat in the diner it helps if you happen to own a couple of race horses. Not being in the possession of such animals, I found myself jumping off at the 10 minute rest stops which are spaced about 150 miles apart. The railroad was always very cooperative in placing me in either the first or the last coach of ehe train. Thus when I jumped off at the lunch stop there was always a good walk to the lunch counter. This is a good thing because by the time you arrive at the counter, you are hungry and so you buy more food. There are other problems too. The coffee which you get in the carry-away containers, doesn't have a spoon with it. Now I happen to be one of those people who like sugar with my coffee. To be perfectly frank about it, I like a little coffee with my sugar! And then to get on the train and find that the only implement you have is a pocket comb!

Have you ever tasted coffee with a Brylcream flavor? Believe me, it's different!

Eventually it came time to go to bed. Most of my train trips in the past were taken when I was working for His Majesty. Now the army works on the theory that the more people you have in the smallest amount of space, the happier everyone will be. Under this system it is certainly very chummy, but there just isn't any room for berths. I must have softened since my army days because the church was providing me with a lower berth. But here again problems are raised for the novice. When you are taking off your brogans, at night, it is best not to keep your feet in the aisle—someone might just tramp on your instep and if you are barefoot this can be a painful experience. Furthermore the curtain which separates you from the aisle cuts off all vision and any warning of the fate that awaits you. You are minding your own business, and all of a sudden crunch! Being a parson, you think all sorts of unkind things. Laymen, they tell me have other ways of finding relief.

Well, we arrived in Winnipeg bright and early. As my train, which was to take me down into the U.S.A., wasn't due to leave for an hour and a half, I decided that a walk would be a good idea. After taking in Portage and Main, plus a cup of coffee I sauntered back to the station, allowing myself lots of time to catch the U.S. train—or so I thought. When I asked which track it was on they told me it had already departed. This I assured them, was quite impossible. To prove my point I produced my itinerary. There it was in black and white, wasn't due to leave for

School Pupils Tour Farms

GRASSLAND — Sixteen grade 10 pupils for Grassland school recently made an interesting trip to two farms in the district. At 9:30 a.m. they started off in a school bus driven by Tommy Murowchuk, in charge of Mr. Magera, agriculture teacher. At Boyle they met the agriculture class from Warren school, and were introduced to Mr. Godell, the district agriculturist.

The first farm visited was that of Mr. Dupilka, with its beautiful lay-out and inspected Mrs. Dupilka's flock of 300 laying hens. Notice was taken of the buildings, especially the home.

At noon, the pupils met the Athabasca class and were honored to have lunch in the Edwin Parr school. Lunch was followed by speeches.

The next farm visited was that of Don Macleod. The students were much impressed here. Mr. Macleod is raising 1000 turkeys, as well as some chickens. He uses crop rotation, without summerfallow, but believes in fertilizer.

Both farmers explained to the pupils in detail about making a success of farming, and encouraged them to tell their parents of what they had seen. They pointed out that Mr. Godell is always willing to help any farmer.

The Grassland grade 10 students wish to express their thanks to Mr. Magera for making this trip possible.

Parade Marks Remembrance Day

A parade, comprising the Lac la Biche Sea Cadets, the RCMP, town police, veterans and the fire brigade, fell in at the Memorial Hall at 10:45 a.m. on Remembrance Day and marched to cenotaph with Rev. J. McGrane of the Royal Canadian Navy taking the salute at the Aurora Theatre. At the cenotaph, flanked by members of the RCMP wreaths were laid by R. Rizzoli for the Navy, N. Mouille for the Army and T. McCullough for the Air Force, after which the parade carried on to St. Andrew's and St. Catherine's churches where memorial services were held.

Veterans and guests numbering 87, the largest attendance on record, assembled at the Legion Cottage at 12:30 p.m. where a turkey banquet was served by a group of the veterans' wives under the direction of Mrs. L. J. Badry. Near the conclusion of the dinner a toast to Her Majesty the Queen was proposed by Corporal Clark, R.C.M.P.

President, William Hamilton outlined the activities of the branch for the past year and expressed his appreciation for the wholehearted co-operation of the heads of the various committees in assisting with executive and field duties in connection with the operation of the branch. His worship, Mayor Hamar, spoke briefly on world conditions and concluded on the note that when there is harmony among the nations there is peace in the world.

Mr. Maccagno, M.L.A. for Lac la Biche, in his usual jocular vein, referred to the generosity of the president, and further made specific mention of the time and effort expended by R. Rizzoli in supervising the renovation of the cottage.

Past president, Rev. J. McGrane, in addressing the gathering advised that the branch had in mind the purchasing of a plaque on which the names of those veterans who had fallen or died in the armed services, could be attached, and asked for assistance in compiling a list which would be complete.

President William Hamliton then gave credit to the wives of the members who had so generously given of their time to make the banquet so successful, and a toast to the ladies was proposed by F. W. McMillan.

The balance of the afternoon was spent in friendly visiting and reminiscing of army days.

CHILD ADOPTION IN ALBERTA

The CHILD WELFARE ACT provides for, and controls, the CHILD WELFARE BRANCH of the Department of Public Welfare. This branch of the Alberta Government is responsible for any adoption of any child in this Province.

In order to ensure that unsuitable persons do not become involved in dealing with child adoption the following section of the Act was introduced:

Except on the order of a District Court judge, no parent shall surrender the custody of his child and no person shall accept the custody of that child without having first obtained the approval, in writing, of the child welfare commission; and a surrender without such approval is null and void.

HOMES FOR CARE OF DEPENDENT CHILDREN

All homes for dependent children are authorized and maintained by the Child Welfare Branch under the Act. To these homes come children whose parents are incapable of caring for them properly and those children who have been abandoned or mistreated.

APPLICATIONS FOR ADOPTION

Adoption applications made by prospective parents are assigned to the HOME INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE. This committee, after a thorough examination of the applicants and their home, pass the application on, if acceptable, to the PLACEMENT DIVISION. The prospective parents then discuss with this Branch the individual children available for adoption and a decision is reached for the placement of a particular child in their home.

IT TAKES TIME

Due to the splendid response to adoption in Alberta, approved applications now accumulate more quickly than children become available for adoption. This, coupled with the care that must be taken before placing a child, creates a waiting period that at first may seem unreasonable to the adopting parents. However, the decision to adopt a child is never made in haste nor is the adoption speeded unnaturally to any risky conclusion.

PROBATIONARY PERIOD

Because of the great care taken in pre-adoptive planning, reconsideration of a child placement is extremely rare. A one year period is however, provided by the Act to insure that there is complete adjustment of the parents and the child in their new life together.

DISTRICT COURT MAKES ADOPTION FINAL

The new parents make petition to the District Court for legal adoption papers. This petition along with a full recommendation by the Child Welfare Commission is considered by the District Court Judge before a legal adoption order is issued. The child, to all intents and purposes, is legally a child of the new parents. A new birth certificate is issued and all records pertaining to the adoption are placed in a sealed pocket.

FOSTER HOMES

Private homes, voluntarily contributed, for the care of children are always in demand. If the child is not adopted, a good foster home will provide the love and understanding so necessary to his development.

MY TRIP TO WISCONSIN

15 minutes. I leered at them. They leered back. The moral is, never argue with trainmen. They are always right.

It seems that my itinerary had been made up from a time-table that had been out of date these many months—since last May as a matter of fact. My train was now on its merry way rolling south to the land of Uncle Sam. There wasn't another one for 12 hours and that would leave me late for my conference. All of a sudden I was whisked into a taxi. Somehow they contacted the train at a switch some miles away and had it flagged down. But to keep my blood pressure from getting too low, they placed me in a taxi whose driver was not sure of just where he was taking me. And so as we rocketed through the streets of downtown Winnipeg, my chauffeur kept up a running conversation with his dispatcher.

It was something like going on a vacation with the family. The little woman seated beside you with a pile of road maps heaped on her knee is the navigator. Everything is just fine until you are about to pass someone. You are well over on the left hand side of the road, accelerating and you get the sudden instructions to 'turn right here dear' . . . a screech of brakes . . . the smell of burning rubber . . . the most irate looks from the other driver as you madly fumble at your neck in order to hide the clercical collar. Fortunately the police don't happen to be around and you get on the right road. Well it seems that our dispatcher had other things to do and as a result some of the orders came in a bit late. But we did arrive, even though I was a little damp from the experience.

We arrived, yes. There was the train standing waiting, patiently. There was only one problem. Between the taxi and the train there was a field but with no road connecting the two. The only thing to do was to leap out and head across that field.

At one end of the train the engineer was hanging out of his cab. At the other end was the conductor on his little platform In between faces were pressed against coach windows. I am sure they must have been expecting at least an Archbishop or the Governor-General. Can you imagine their disappointment when they ended up with a lowly parson! Next week I shall tell you something of the conference and the issues which were before us.

Highway fatalities keep increasing, but this fact won't persuade anyone that the next accident always involves new victims.

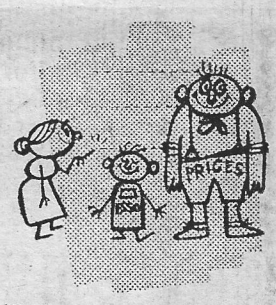
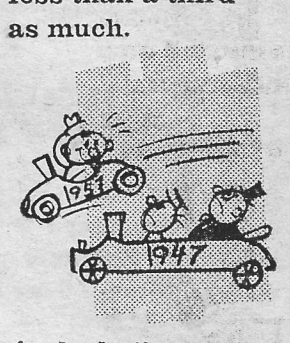
they'd be cheaper by the gallon

It costs plenty to raise a family these days. But if youngsters, like your car, ran on gasoline you'd be better off.

Want to know why? Today everything costs more, including the scores of things a growing family needs. Gasoline costs more, too.



But government figures show that since 1939 the cost of living has gone up more than 120 percent while wholesale gasoline prices have risen about 40 percent—less than a third as much.



And what's more—today's regular gasolines are far superior to the premium grades sold only ten years ago.
